Dear Brooke,

Jennifer Dillion
Consultant

During the follow up review of the special education records and procedures at Virtual Schoolhouse on June 4, 2008 the school was found to be in good shape with the outstanding special education issues of the school's last review of December 20, 2008. This shows great diligence the staff at Virtual Schoolhouse has taken in working toward compliance in all areas of special education required by law.

The review included special education files, in reference to checking on special education services as recommended on individual's MFEs, a random check of student IEPs for frequency of services, an overall observation of IEPs checked for Least Restrictive Environment, and test accommodations reviewed that are consistent with the special education services.

Jack Langstaff
Consultant

As per Virtual Schoolhouse's corrective action plan the above items have been addressed in a positive manner. Other items that were observed in a positive light included the provision of student IEP progress reports and the proper filing of such. The review included random file checks for proper signatures on MFEs and ETRs as well as consistently having the proper team members at conferences and meetings. These items were also observed in a positive light.
